Santa Fe Rose Society

The Santa Fe Rose Society is a chapter of the non-profit educational organization, the American Rose Society, serving the residents of the City of Santa Fe and surrounding areas. The common goals of these two societies are:

1. To follow the mission and practice the principals of the American Rose Society.
2. To promote the culture and appreciation of the rose.
3. Foster the interest to the public in rose horticulture through educational programs, community events, rose shows, and publications.
4. Educate and encourage the residents of our community to grow roses.
5. Offer our community the best information and practices for growing roses with ease and effectiveness.

The Santa Fe Rose Society is responsible for the beautification and maintenance of the Harvey Cornell Rose Garden. Our society has partnered with the Santa Fe Master Gardener Association and the City of Santa Fe Parks Division to preserve the beauty and character of the garden. The garden is open to the public and is located at the corner of Galisteo and Cordova Road. The Santa Rose Society offers free and open meetings to the public on the first Tuesday of the month. Three Rose Garden Clinics will also be offered in the spring and summer.
